

David Graham is recognized as a thought leader in the implementation of enterprise business intelligence, data warehousing, and analytics projects. He has personally been involved in over 300 implementations during his career. His experience covers the complete range of projects; from custom developed to pre-packed solutions from all the current leading vendors. He is a certified consultant in CRM, Business Intelligence, Data Warehousing and eProcurement and has been an invited speaker on Business Intelligence, Data Warehousing, and Analytics topics at major universities and conferences.